

Loving the environment means more than loving the great outdoors. It means working to preserve it.

Subaru of Indiana Automotive becomes the first U.S. plant to earn an ISO 14001 Certification for Environmental Management.

National Park Foundation launches Find Your Park, a public awareness and education campaign to celebrate the 2016 centennial anniversary of the National Park Service and set the

#FindYourPark

Subaru of Indiana Automotive receives designation as an 832-acre Backyard Wildlife Habitat by the National Wildlife Federation.

Subaru of Indiana Automotive receives the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Gold Achievement Award as the top achiever in the agency's WasteWise program to reduce waste and improve recycling.

In partnership with National Parks Conservation Association (NPCA), a non-profit national park advocacy group, the team will test zero landfill practices in three iconic national parks -Yosemite, Grand Teton and Denali - working toward a goal of significantly reducing waste going into landfills from all national parks. This sustainability initiative builds upon Subaru of America's multi-year partnership with the National Park Foundation (NPF) celebrating the centennial of the National Park Service and the Find Your Park movement.

